

ADMINISTRATION FACING NEW CRISIS

CARD DEPUTIES NOT AUTHORIZED AVERS CRABBE

Says Agents Hold Their Positions Illegally In State.

Columbus, O., Feb. 28.—Governor Donahy today asked Attorney General Crabbe for an official ruling on the legality of the appointment of "card deputies" in the state prohibition department.

This afternoon the governor will confer with Prohibition Director McDonald, relative to the matter, with a view of dispensing with these deputies, it was said.

The governor recommended that provision be made for the appointment of fifty salaried inspectors to be permanently employed by the department. He declared that the card men who "have been operating extensively" were under his administration compelled to furnish bonds of $2,000 each.

This was not required under the previous administration, which inaugurated the "card deputy" system, Donahy declared.

Columbus, Feb. 28.—Appointment of "card agents" by the state prohibition department is declared by Attorney General Crabbe to be entirely without authority in law, and their activities illegal.

"There is no authority whatever for appointing these 'card' deputies, who go out over the state working in connection with justices of the peace," said Crabbe. "The law of Ohio is being violated in order to enforce another law, the prohibition law."

The Miller act, passed by the Eighty-fourth general assembly, creating the present state prohibition department, does not authorize appointment of "card" prohibition officers, according to Crabbe. This act, he pointed out, provides for a prohibition commissioner, a deputy commissioner, not to exceed 20 inspectors and for the appointment of "such temporary inspectors as the emergency demands," their number to be fixed by the governor. These "temporary inspectors" shall be paid "not to exceed $10 a day and expenses."

The "card" agents are not paid by the state, but receive their compensation in percentages of the fines assessed against violators they arrest. They are issued cards by State Prohibition Commissioner McDonald and take their stations throughout the state. There are about 70 in the state.

Taking exception to Governor Donahy's recent statement that he would recommend to the next legislature that the "card" officers be abolished, Crabbe declared there was no necessity for such a recommendation. "There is no authority for them in the first instance," he said, "and legislation is therefore not required to remedy the situation. It is not necessary to wait for the legislature to prohibit their appointment."

Crabbe declared he believed the "card" agents are doing prohibition more harm than good.

Thomas M. Hare, head of the Anti-Saloon league, challenges the attorney general's interpretation of the Miller law. He insists the Miller law does provide for the appointment of card deputies, saying they are named, on the recommendation of local organizations, when the local enforcement officers refuse to perform their duties.

AUTO TAG PLOT KNOWN TO PRISON

Columbus, Feb. 28.—Warden Thomas stated that the automobile license tag plot had been known to prison officials for several weeks. They made no attempt to break it up, he said, wishing to capture those involved outside the prison as well as the convicts. Several sets of tags have been surreptitiously shipped from the prison to a Cleveland man, believed to be a paroled prisoner, and for whom Cleveland police are hunting. The tags were not duplicates, but were originals stolen from boxes of tags. The plan was to have the man on the outside sell the tags below the state price.

OPPOSES SITE

Columbus, Feb. 28.—Director John E. Monger announced that the state department of health is "standing pat" in its refusal to approve a proposed site for the Stark county tuberculosis hospital near Canton. "I oppose the proposed site because it is situated on the same tract of land with all county infirm and workhouse," Dr. Monger said. "A tuberculosis hospital should be separated from charitable institutions and I will not approve the present site." The proposed tuberculosis hospital is to cost approximately $150,000.

GERMAN TRIAL IS CONDUCTED SECRETLY NOW

Public Barred From Hearing of Ludendorff Charges.

Munich, Feb. 28.—The first secret session in the Ludendorff-Hitler treason trial, arising from the short-lived "beer cellar revolt" of last November, was held today while Lieutenant Colonel Herman Kriebel was testifying.

Kriebel had been testifying for an hour when he requested the court to go into a star chamber session. Thereupon the press and public were excluded.

Kriebel who is radically anti-French served in the German army in the great war. He described his experience at Anspa after the German revolution of 1918, when he drove through a crowd of Belgians who howled insults at him and hissed him.

The witness said he called out to them:

"I will see you again in a few years."

The Belgians, the witness said, answered him with rifle shots.

Kriebel was later a member of the armistice commission. Much of his public testimony was a repetition of what had already been told regarding the Hitler uprising and the developments in Munich on November eighth and ninth last.

Munich, Bavaria, Feb. 28.—General Ludendorff, Adolf Hitler and eight others on trial for treason were super-patriots and national saviors, not traitors, according to several witnesses. Dr. Friedrich Weber, head of the Oberlandbund, one of the most important of Bavarian fascist organizations, testified that the purpose of his organization was to "break the Versailles treaty at any cost and tear asunder the bonds binding Germany."

His fascist, Dr. Weber said, wanted to "bridge class strife and create a new fatherland." He said he had believed Hitler to be the best man to unite the fatherland organizations, and that for this reason his "bund" co-operated with the fascist storm troops of Hitler.

YOUNG McADOO'S DENIAL

New York, Feb. 28.—Francis H. McAdoo, whose name was found in telegrams by the senate investigation committee at Washington as having "advised" Edward B. McLean about certain matters, made this statement: "I am in no way involved in the oil lease scandal. Further than that I have absolutely no comment to make." McAdoo is an attorney in the firm of Miller & Otis, and is a son of W. G. McAdoo, candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

STUDENT SERIOUSLY INJURED

Berlin, N. H., Feb. 28.—Robert McConaughy of Dayton, O., a junior at Dartmouth college, is a patient in St. Louis hospital here with two fractures of the spinal column, sustained at Mt. Washington. One of a party of Dartmouth students making the annual midwinter ascent of Mt. Washington, young McConaughy joined his companions in making a ski slide into a ravine. At the bottom he collided with another skier.

The appointment was made by Referee in Bankruptcy Charles Greve.

SHOW EFFORTS TO BLOCK OIL PROBE

NEW TELEGRAMS THROW LIGHT ON POLITICAL PLAY

Attempted Manipulation of Influence Read Into Record.

Washington, Feb. 28.—A Mitchell Palmer, attorney general in the Wilson administration was instructed this afternoon to appear before the senate oil investigation committee tomorrow morning for questioning as a result of the disclosures contained in the McLean telegrams. Palmer is the second cabinet officer of the last Democratic administration to be summoned in the oil inquiry—the other being William Gibbs McAdoo, who testified several weeks ago.

Washington, Feb. 28.—New light was thrown upon the persistent but unsuccessful efforts to block the senate oil investigating committee from examining Edward B. McLean, wealthy publisher, about the famous $100,000 "loan" which he made to ex-Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall, in checks that never were cashed.

A fresh batch of telegrams, disclosing the attempted manipulation of political influence were read into the record of the oil investigation. They showed that every possible pressure was brought to bear in McLean's behalf, principally by A. Mitchell Palmer, attorney general in the Wilson administration, but that all such efforts failed because of the "stubbornness" of Senator Walsh, Democrat of Montana, the dominant figure on the committee.

One telegram told McLean that it was "all off"—that Walsh was insisting upon examining him and that McLean should prepare himself to come to Washington for testimony.

The messages also revealed that McLean's friends were attempting to have "Underwood" use his influence on Walsh. Denial that Senator Underwood, Democrat of Alabama, candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination ever interceded on McLean's behalf was made, by the Alabama man's friends.

Walsh said Underwood told him he had been requested to have the letter inserted into the record.

The names of Francis H. McAdoo, and his father, William G. McAdoo, were mentioned in a message which McLean sent to Washington and Palm Beach. Most of the telegrams today were signed by John Major, W. F. Wiley and W. O. Duckstein, McLean's employees in Washington.

At the request of Senators Lenroot and Dill, Democrat of Washington, the committee today decided to call Palmer to the stand. It is said that Walsh will decide tonight whether he will call McLean or not.

"Underwood never endeavored to influence my conduct," Walsh told the committee. He said further, however, that at the request of Bennett, (editor of the Washington Post), asked me whether the committee was going to call McLean. He said I told him it had already been arranged for me to go to Palm Beach to examine McLean. If he said it, it must be true but I don't recall the conversation," Walsh said.

The investigators' glaring searchlight again today was turned upon the private, intimate telegraphic correspondence of E. B. McLean, wealthy Washington and Cincinnati publisher, and ex-Secretary of Interior Albert B. Fall. Continuing its search which thus far has been fruitless, for telegrams which would show that certain members of the committee secretly passed out information to witnesses, the committee examined another large batch of Western Union and Postal messages. The committee has not yet been able to find in Western Union files the telegram which Senator Lenroot, Republican of Wisconsin, sent to McLean advising the publisher that the committee had ordered Senator Walsh, Democrat of Montana, to go to Palm Beach to take his testimony. The Western Union manager was instructed to search his files thoroughly for this wire, which Lenroot made public two days ago.

Democratic members expressed a strong desire to secure a copy of this message from the files.

RECOVERING IN CELL

Sam Bear, 24, Waynesville, who was shot in the leg by Patrolman Charles Thompson when he attempted to evade arrest Monday night, is recovering from the wound in his leg inflicted by the bullet, in his cell in the County Jail. Sheriff Morris Sharp has not yet set a time for his arraignment on the charge of transporting and possessing liquor.

EXPECT ARRIVAL OF SENATOR WILLIS' DECLARATION; LOCAL WOMAN FILES

Columbus, O., Feb. 28.—Arrival of United States Senator Willis' declaration, expected today at the office of Secretary of State Brown, will complete the official recording of the candidacies of the seven delegates at large which have been approved by the republican state organization for representation from Ohio at the Republican national convention at Cleveland next June. All are pledged to support President Coolidge for the presidential nomination.

The declarations already on file at the secretary of state's office are: Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty, U. S. Senator Peas, Mrs. John G. Battelle, Columbus; Mrs. Anne Tod, of Youngstown; former Congressman Charles L. Knight, Akron and William Cooper Proctor, Cincinnati for delegates at large and Thomas S. Farrell, Cleveland; Fred D. Patterson, Greenfield; Wilma Sinclair Lavan, Steubenville; J. B. Cartmell, Springfield; Edward Vollrath, Bucyrus; Marshall Sheppey, Toledo, and Hallie G. Brown, Wilberforce, alternates at large.

VIOLENCE MARKS CHICAGO STRIKE

Chicago, Feb. 28.—Violence marked the opening of the second day of the ladies garment workers strike here when a shop owner in Milwaukee avenue was shot as strikers forced their way into his shop to drive out workers who had reported for duty.

The man was reported seriously wounded and was rushed to a hospital by police who drove the crowd from the shop.

Police made preparations to handle the situation firmly after demonstration yesterday in which several were wounded. Reserves were held ready to be rushed to any point where violence broke out.

ONE KILLED AND ONE HURT IN SMASH

Tiffin, O., Feb. 28.—Frank Kreider, 50, Garrett, Indiana, was instantly killed and W. O. Lacey, 44, Defiance, O. seriously injured when they were struck by a westbound locomotive on the B. & O. railroad bridge over the Sandusky river here today.

The men, bridge carpenters, working with their backs to the approaching engine, were watching a Pennsylvania train on an adjacent track. The engine was running light from the yards to get water and witnesses said the whistle was not sounded. Kreider was unharmed. Lacey is expected to recover.

CLAIMS HUSBAND KILLED BRIDE

Chicago, Feb. 28.—According to William Engelke, arrested here, John Duffy, Philadelphia gunman, killed Maybelle Exley Duffy, his bride of two weeks, and then was slain by his wife's friends. Engelke said he was with the couple on the night of the killings.

"Duffy and Maybelle and I were having a drinking party that night," Engelke said, according to police. "Duffy and Maybelle got into an argument because she refused to eat lunch with us. Duffy pulled a gun and shot Maybelle. He forced me to stay with him for nearly 24 hours and often threatened to kill me. The last I saw of Duffy was when he got into an automobile with several strangers. I believe these men killed him and threw his body from the automobile."

Duffy's body was found near the outskirts of the city. A few hours later police went to his apartment and found the body of his wife.

DAUGHERTY IN CHICAGO WHILE SENATE SEEKS PUBLIC TRIAL FOR HIM

Enactment of Wheeler Resolution Providing Special Investigation Into Justice Department Matter of Hours

Washington, Feb. 28.—The senate juggernaut, with one cabinet victim to its credit, was in motion again today to grind out authority for a public trial of Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty on charges of neglect of duty. While the attorney general calmly went to Chicago, a thousand miles from the scene of battle, the senate was stripped for action on the Wheeler resolution, providing a special investigation into his conduct of the department of justice. With its enactment only a matter of hours, the Coolidge administration faced its second political crisis within a fortnight.

Friends and foes of Daugherty were agreed that passage of the resolution would force the administration into a vigorous defense of the attorney general. The maze of charges (laid at him have involved practically the whole administration for they were aimed at his conduct of war fraud cases, the veterans' bureau investigation, prosecution of prohibition violations and the oil scandal among others. With a dozen bureaus interrelated, it was said the whole administration would be forced on the defensive.

It was final today that the attorney general would not resign until after he has made a complete defense to the senatorial charges which was stated authoritatively in International News Service dispatches on February 26, regardless of the outcome, he would voluntarily retire from the cabinet. Even though his record should ultimately be approved by the senate, serious illness in his immediate family will impel his retirement from public life.

This position of the attorney general has apparently been approved by the president. At the series of conferences which preceded Daugherty's departure for the West, the attorney general was reported to have won the president over to his viewpoint. The president's decision was reached after Daugherty had been vigorously defended by Senator Frank B. Willis, Republican of Ohio, who succeeded the late President Harding in the senate. Willis was said to have told the president bluntly that Daugherty's dismissal now, would split the Republican party wide open, bring discredit upon the whole administration and send the party into the next election in a weakened condition.

For Daugherty the political die was cast. He had invited the investigation and urged his handful of friends in the senate to support it. In addition on the eve of his departure for the West, he tossed a final defiance to his foes who vainly sought to compel his resignation from the cabinet.

"It is not my purpose," said Daugherty, "to even consider tendering my resignation as attorney general until after a fair hearing on the charges preferred against me."

Final defiance spurred the attorney general's friends in the senate to rally to his defense. They sought to prevent enactment of the Wheeler resolution but to organize administration ranks in opposition to the Democratic insurgent plan of naming a "hand picked committee to conduct the investigation."

With Democrats and Insurgent Republicans united on the committee slate, selected by Senator Wheeler, Democrat of Montana, author of the investigation, friends of Daugherty were doomed to defeat. The coalition slate was headed by Senator George Hart, Republican of Iowa, an insurgent leader, as chairman, Senator Jones, Republican, Washington, Senator McLean, Republican, of Connecticut, Senator Ashurst, Democrat, Arizona and Wheeler himself. Selection of this committee was seven conceded by the attorney general's supporters.

Action of administration senators in opposing this slate was in direct contrast to their previous actions in urging Daugherty's resignation. It was freely reported that the attorney general's vigorous singling out of party leaders on both sides, forced administration senators under his banner.

It was announced after Daugherty's departure that he had been called to Florida, where Mrs. Daugherty is ill, and would go by way of Chicago to attend to public business there.

Chicago, Feb. 28.—Attorney General H. M. Daugherty, leaving the battlefield at Washington, where his foes seek his resignation to come to Chicago for the federal grand jury investigation into the veterans' bureau, arrived here on the Capitol Limited today.

Brigadier General Charles I. Sawyer, personal physician to the late President Harding reached Chicago about the same time.

Daugherty, who will attend the federal grand jury probe here into Charles R. Forbes, administration of the Veterans Bureau, faced a corps of newspaper reporters and a battery of cameramen at the Baltimore and Ohio station and to inquiries returned smiling and non-informative answers.

The strain of the fight he has made against those who would stampede him into resignation seemed to be telling on the attorney general. He appeared almost a sick man with a nervous impatience to escape his inquisitors.

Daugherty was met at the station by John H. Crim, special attorney general in Chicago for the Forbes investigation and Oliver Pagen, indictment expert. It was believed Dr. Sawyer's Chicago visit was in connection with the federal grand jury investigation. Dr. Sawyer, one of the chief witnesses in the senate committee hearing on the veterans' bureau scandal, did not travel with Daugherty.

He arrived on the first and Daugherty on the second section of the same train.

Washington, Feb. 28.—Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty intends to resign from the cabinet after the senate investigation of his administration of the department and irrespective of the outcome of that investigation, he indicated to friends here before leaving for Chicago.

Senator James E. Watson, Republican of Indiana, said today he had discussed with the attorney general the question of his resignation, following the White House conference with the president on Tuesday night. The attorney general, he said, outlined three conditions upon which he would retire from the cabinet.

"The attorney general said he would not be forced out of the cabinet without a trial," said Senator Watson. "His position is that he will resign only under these conditions:

1.—If he is requested to do so directly by President Coolidge.

2.—If the senate's investigation reveals something that he himself is not now cognizant of—something that will reflect upon him or his conduct.

3.—If the senate's investigation proves him guilty of any wrongdoing, clears up these charges, and permits him to retire honorably—through the front door and not the back door."

TRIBUTE IS PAID HARDING BY HUGHES

Washington, Feb. 28.—Secretary of State Hughes paid tribute to his former chief, the late President Harding, at the congressional memorial services for the departed president. Mrs. Harding, the widow, sat in the gallery of the house, looking down on the assemblage, which included President Coolidge and his cabinet, the diplomatic representatives of foreign powers, the justices of the supreme court and members of both houses of congress.

"Warren G. Harding gave his life to his country," Hughes said. "No one can do more than that. He exhausted himself in service, a martyr in fidelity to the interests of the people, for whom he labored with a passionate devotion. He was a man of the people, indulging in no consciousness of superiority, incapable of arrogance, separated from them neither by experience nor by pride nor by eccentricity."

GOVERNOR TO ASK LEGISLATURE'S AID

Columbus, O., Feb. 28.—Gov. Donahy will ask the state legislature for relief from crowded conditions at the penitentiary and for revival of the London prison farm construction program.

Establishment of additional industries at the farm will give employment to hundreds of convicts, it was claimed, and relieve congestion at the penitentiary here.

TO BE TAKEN TO SANITARIUM FOR BRIEF TREATMENT

W. A. Moles, Moulton, Ala., and his son, J. Floyd Moles, 25, Pittsburgh, Pa., who attempted suicide here Monday while suffering from mental disorders resulting from a nervous breakdown, were expected to leave for Pennsylvania Thursday afternoon.

Mr. Moles Sr. had originally planned to take his son back to Alabama, but in the belief that he should be given an opportunity to recover his health in a sanitarium, will take him back to Pennsylvania, where young Moles has established a residence, and where he can be committed to an institution of that nature.

Moles Jr., leaped from an east-bound Pennsylvania passenger train at the Jamestown Pike crossing east of Xenia Monday and was later found wandering about in fields after he had stabbed himself with a pocket knife in an attempted suicide.

He became violent when first admitted to the County Jail and labored under the belief he was being sought by the Black Hand, but with returning strength, he is enjoying long periods when he is completely rational. Short treatment in a sanitarium, physicians believe, will cure him.

WATCHING OHIO AT WASHINGTON

By ALFRED P. RECK

Both United States senators from Ohio dropped any political prejudices that they may have possessed against a worthy political adversary and rallied to the support of a fellow Buckeye, Allee Pomerene, of Canton, when his fitness to prosecute fraud cases that may be developed from the Teapot Dome scandal was questioned in the senate.

The former senator from Ohio had been selected by President Coolidge to represent the Democratic party in the prosecution of any criminal or civil action that may evolve from the investigations now in progress. His ability as a lawyer and his fitness to prosecute the cases were being questioned by certain members of the senate when Senators Fess and Willis without hesitation and without inquiring whether it was a private fight or a free-for-all rolled up their sleeves and jumped in.

"Allee Pomerene is an honorable, able, courageous man," declared Senator Frank B. Willis in no uncertain tones. "He was an honor to the state which he represented here in part and he is big enough for the place for which he has been nominated by the president."

Senator Simeon D. Fess was just as emphatic when he stated, "I knew him very well politically. I do not believe there is a more upstanding, honorable, and courageous man in either party in my State than Senator Allee Pomerene."

Mr. Pomerene was finally confirmed by the senate for the appointment. Being a member of congress in this day and age of quick mail service and profile letter writing is like standing in the south-west part of Texas during a terrific sand storm. In this part of Texas you can watch New Mexico and Arizona blow by one day and then watch it come back again within the next twenty-four hours.

Anti-bonus letters have been pouring into the offices of the Ohio members in congress at a swamping rate during the past two weeks but now the wind seems to have changed and pro-bonus letters are causing the mail carriers in the senate and house office buildings to groan beneath their weight. In most of the Ohio offices the pro-bonus letters are arriving at the rate of more than 150 a day.

Members of the Federal Grand Jury of the Northern district of Ohio have urged that congress taken firm action in establishing a permanent restrictive immigration policy. In a petition to Congressman John L. Cable, of Lima, signed by every member of the grand jury they state that during their hearings and investigations of alleged crime in the northern part of Ohio they have found that a large majority of such charges are brought against the foreign element of our population.

A part of the petition reads as follows: "That in our labor and work before the Federal Court, we are shocked by the number, quality and character of foreign defendants, charged with disobedience to our laws and institutions. They are with us. They are here. You are the guardians of our portals. The conditions compel us to urge you to protect our country and our flag by proper regulations and requirements."

Congressman James M. Begg, of Sandusky, floor lieutenant to Nicholas Longworth, Republican leader in congress from Cincinnati, is one of the busiest men on Capitol Hill at the present time during the discussion of the tax reduction program. He is aiding Congressman Longworth in securing the required number of supporters to pass the Republican reduction program.

Senator Simeon D. Fess, of Yellow Springs, has been appointed chairman of the sub-committee of the interstate commerce committee to conduct hearings on the "Truth in Fabrics" bill now pending in the senate. This bill, which has been given nation-wide publicity, would require the percentage of wool and cotton used in the manufacture of clothing to be marked plainly on the cloth so that a purchaser may know what he is buying.

Two-thirds of the cost of construction of roads in Ohio is charged to the farmer, charged Congressman Charles Brand, of Urbana, in a letter to a Springfield, Ohio newspaper.

"In addition to this I find Ohio is spending four million dollars more a year on roads than any other state," continued Congressman Brand. "During the last three years we have bonded ourselves in the counties for $270,000,000 in addition to the before unheard of taxation."

As a remedy to the present condition the member from the seventh district suggests the use of the $22,000,000 surplus now in the state treasury. This, he declared, would meet Federal aid in the construction of highways for seven years.

In replying to a request made to the Immigration Committee of the house by Secretary of State Hughes that congress place Japan on a quota basis with the rest of the countries, Congressman John L. Cable, of Lima, made the following answer:

"To place Japan under the quota would repeal the 'Gentlemen's Agreement.' It would go further than that even if two percent on 1890 census would be but a few hundred yet it would be recognizing the principle that Japanese are admissible and the first step for a further plea to amend the laws so that the Japs may become naturalized American citizens."

"When we consider that within 100 years our population will be almost three hundred millions of people, it behooves members of Congress to preserve the inheritance for those who are here rather than permit other races to come in and share in its resources."

J. B. Stambaugh, of Ada, and George Cooley, of Cuyahoga Falls, were in Washington recently to testify before the Judiciary committee of the House at the hearings on the Child Labor amendment. At the present time there are nine different forms of this amendment pending in the House and three in the Senate.

BERNARR MACFADDEN

One might say that it is foolish for men to spend time and money to get rid of pimples. But it is very wise, because the pimples are an indication that the body is suffering from auto-intoxication, in other words, self-induced systematic poisoning. Suppose the pimples should disappear, while the living methods remained about the same, what would happen? In the course of time another illness due to hyperacidity and auto-intoxication would appear. It might be rheumatism, hardening of the arteries, heart disease, Bright's disease, diabetes, neuritis, or almost any other chronic disorder. In learning to live pimple-free, men learn how to live in good health. If we correct the small disorders, no great ones can develop. Here is an example: Miss MC, was about thirty years old and had had pimples since she was fifteen, and they gave no indication of disappearing.

She had spent a fortune on her face without lasting results. Her face shone so and was so pimply that she had become despondent about it and refused to leave the house during daylight hours, and she would see only her old friends. Because she was housed so much she had grown rather flabby and lazy. Pimples were no joke to her, for she had had her face treated by surgery, with the electric cautery, with X-rays, also with carbolic acid, she said that she "would do anything" to clear up her face.

So for about three weeks she had absolutely nothing to eat except juicy fresh fruits without sugar, and cooked and raw succulent vegetables that had no dressing except a little salt and some juice of lemons, or grapefruit or oranges. She was instructed to take gentle exercises and much deep breathing while on her fruit-vegetable diet and to keep the large intestines clear of waste.

She had no more new pimples after the third week. Her flushed face paled, and she gradually regained a fair complexion. Her old pimples and the severe treatment left many scars, and her face never will be just right but she is no longer ashamed of it. She has become cheerful again and has taken her rightful place in society. She was instructed to give her body good care, including exercise, and she was told how to eat so as to build good blood. She had as a part of her menu plenty of fresh fruits and fresh vegetables every day, foods rich in vitamins, nucleus and the refreshing mineral salts that are necessary for keeping the blood pure.

COLLEGE OFFICIAL HONORED AT PARTY

A cleverly planned shower, honoring Miss Sarah Porter, Registrar of Cedarville College, was given by Miss Somers and Mrs. E. D. McKune Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. McKune, in Springfield. An amusing event of the evening, was the presentation to the honor guest of a doctor's kit, bearing many medicines and supplies which a doctor might use.

Miss Porter's marriage to Dr. Arthur Whitney, of New York City, a physician, will take place in June. She will complete the school year, and leave for Boston, where her marriage will take place.

A contest in which articles necessary to a bride were guessed from pictures, was an interesting affair of the evening. At the close of the evening Miss Porter was presented with novel, little books made by the guests. Miss Porter received many useful and beautiful gifts of linen.

The shower was arranged as a George Washington affair. Favors bearing both the bride's and her fiancé's pictures, together with the American and Canadian flags and emblems were given the guests.

A two-course supper was served. The cake was molded in the shape of two doves. The cake, representing a piece of a log upon which was placed a hatchet and some cherries.

The guests were members of the Fortnightly Club and girls of Cedarville College.

FRIENDS ARRANGE SURPRISE "SHOWER"

Miss Ruby Lynch was honor guest at a miscellaneous "shower" arranged by eleven girl friends at her home on the Jamestown pike, Tuesday evening.

The girls called unannounced, and staged a completed surprise on Miss Lynch. Music, dancing and a contest were enjoyed. Prizes were awarded Miss Ethel Boyd and Miss Helen Glenn, which were given to the honor guest. A refreshment course was served.

COMMUNITY HOLDS FAREWELL PARTY

The Community Club of the Collins Schoolhouse, held a farewell party in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Routzong, and family and Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Bobbitt, and family, who are moving from the neighborhood, Tuesday evening. Refreshments were served, and a social time enjoyed.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE ARRANGED TUESDAY

Mrs. Jacob Colp of West Second Street, was greatly surprised Tuesday when relatives and friends came to remind her of her birthday.

Several tables or bridge and five hundred were enjoyed. At six o'clock, a dainty luncheon was served. The out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Zimmerman, and son, Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Zimmerman, Mr. and Mrs. A. Portney, and daughter, Mrs. Loebe Zimmerman, and daughter, Sarah, Mr. and Mrs. J. Abramson, all of Dayton, and Mr. and Mrs. Abramson's house guest, Mrs. D. Wendroff, of Manistique, Michigan.

Mrs. Colp received a number of beautiful gifts.

DONATE DISHES AT CHURCH SOCIETY MEETING

A "shower of dishes" marked the social meeting of the Woman's Bible Class of the First M. E. Church, at the home of Mrs. John A. North, on South Detroit Street, Wednesday afternoon. A large quantity of dishes was donated by the members of the society, to stock the kitchen of the church, for the use of the Ladies' Aid Society, in serving meals.

About forty women attended the meeting. Contests were entertaining features of the afternoon, and readings were given by Mrs. C. R. Searns. A short business session was held, and the women spent the social hour with their needlework.

VISITS AT HOME HERE WITH BRIDE

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Watt have returned to their home in Fort Wayne, Indiana, after attending the funeral of Mr. Watt's mother, Mrs. D. B. Watt. Mr. and Mrs. Watt's marriage took place in Fort Wayne, January twentieth. Mrs. Watt has visited here a number of times, and Mr. Watt's marriage is of interest to a number of his friends.

DANCING PARTY WELL ATTENDED AT ELKS'

Fifty couples patronized the dance, sponsored by Messrs. James Savage and Lew Frye, at the Elks' Club, Wednesday evening. The affair was one of a series given by Mr. Savage and Mr. Frye.

Music was furnished by Henderson's orchestra, from Wilberforce University. A number of out-of-town guests attended the dance.

THIMBLE CLUB MEETING

Mrs. Thomas Randall and Mrs. Margaret Rickett, will entertain the Pride of Xenia Thimble Club at the home of Mrs. Randall on West Second street, Friday afternoon. All members are urged to be present.

POSTPONE SUPPER

The Community Supper which was to be held at the Spring Hill School Friday, February 29, has been indefinitely postponed.

Mr. and Mrs. David Burba, and family, of near New Jasper have moved to the Williamson farm near Cedarville, on the Kyle road.

Mrs. F. M. Hiett, of Spring Valley, who has been ill for the past two weeks, is able to take her place in the postoffice again.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Riley, of the Clifton pike, twin girls, Tuesday night.

Bert Morris, of the interurban depot shining stand, who has been off duty for some time because of a dislocated arm suffered in a fall recently, is now able to return regularly to his duties. He has employed Joe Herr to assist him on Saturdays and Sundays.

Mrs. Guernsey McCoy, of Hill Street, returned home Monday from Cincinnati, where she spent several days.

Mrs. J. J. Stout, and son, Jimmie, of Hill Street, returned Monday evening, from Portsmouth, Ohio, where they spent about ten days with Mrs. R. G. Henley.

Mrs. Howard Norris, of Hill Street, is recovering from a dislocated hip and three fracture, ribs, received in a fall, on the ice, two weeks ago. She is now able to be about her home.

Mr. Jacob Pollard of South West Street, is confined to his home suffering from grip.

Mrs. M. W. Anderson, of South Detroit Street, who has been ill for several weeks, with a severe attack of rheumatism, is improving.

Mrs. H. C. Osman of Cottage Grove Avenue, is ill from an attack of grip.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Melvin of the Cincinnati pike, have moved to a farm on the South Charleston pike.

Greene Countians Who Have Achieved Distinction

(Editor's Note—This is the eighth of a series of articles concerning former Greene County citizens who have since attained nation-wide prominence in their chosen fields of endeavor. It is interesting to note that Greene County has furnished more than its share of people who have later attained renown.)

DR. DANIEL JOHNSON FLEMING

Prominent as a clergyman, author and educator, Dr. Daniel Johnson Fleming, native Xenian, has easily won the right to a place in this unofficial list of Greene County's great. Dr. Fleming was born in Xenia in 1877, the son of Daniel Johnson and Josephine McClung Fleming and received his B. A. degree at Wooster University, in 1898. He completed his theological training at Union Theological Seminary 1901-1903 but received his M. A. degree at Columbia, 1902 and his M. Sc., at the University of Chicago in 1904.

He is a Fellow of Punjab University, and in 1914 was again honored by the University of Chicago in receiving his Ph. D. He was ordained a Presbyterian minister in 1903 and a year later married Miss Elizabeth Cole of Chicago.

From 1904 to 1913, Dr. Fleming was professor of physics at Forman Christian College, Lahore, India, and later became organizing director of the department of foreign service of the Union Theological Seminary, at New York, where he still remains as professor of missions.

He has written a number of books which have received wide distribution, including "Social Study, Service and Exhibits," 1913; "Devolution in Mission Administration," 1916; "Marks of a World Christian," 1919; "Building With India," 1922.

This last book is the basis of mission study by many denominations and nearly every missionary society in Xenia is now using it for study.

Dr. Fleming recently appeared here in connection with the exercises attendant upon the re-dedication of the First Presbyterian Church.

TRIED TO BUY BACK THE STAR

On February 14, minority stockholders of the Marion Star, of whom Mrs. Harding is one, offered to buy back the newspaper from Roy D. Moore and Louis H. Brush after the death of Mr. Harding at the price for which it was purchased.

Mr. Donithen, a Marion resident and friend of the Hardings, said that the offer was made to Brush and Moore by the small stockholders, but they felt possibly the two men "regretted their bargain" after Mr. Harding's death.

"The offer was declined," Donithen said, "because Mr. Brush and Mr. Moore did not feel that the death of Mr. Harding had damaged the prestige of the newspaper or affected it adversely in any other way."

He said the minority stockholders made their tender to the new owners of the Star because they did not want them to be dissatisfied in any way with their purchase.

Another point about the value of the Marion Star is established in part of a letter written by Mr. Harding, to James F. Hopley, of Bucyrus, who had asked his advice about taking $110,000 for his two papers. Mr. Harding wrote:

Dear Hopley: I have your note regarding the proposed purchase and consolidation of the two papers at Bucyrus. I am sure that I do not have the slightest discouragement to offer. It is in harmony with the tendency toward consolidation of newspapers in order to make them consistent business enterprises as well as self-reliant agencies of becoming public service.

The owner of the Poughkeepsie, N. Y. Evening Star and Enterprise writes that he offered President Harding $350,000 for the Star, September 22, 1922. He formerly lived at Marion.

"LAW FACTORIES"

The average American will feelingly indorse Secretary Hughes' address before the American Law Institute. We have, as he asserts, too many laws and too many unenforced laws. As he states:

We have in this country the greatest law factory the world has ever seen. Forty-eight states and the Federal Government are turning out each year thousands of new laws, while at the same time the courts in the performance of their judicial duty are giving us thousands of new precedents.

If laws would make us so, we ought to be the very best and most law-abiding people in the world. More than 12,000 statutes a year are poured out. This gargantuan legal grist requires the making of 175,000 pages of decisions yearly. On the highest courts it throws the burden of making 13,000 permanently rendered decisions every twelve months.

Nor do we grow greatly better because of it. The Secretary expressed some of the resentment in the mind of the plain citizen when he protested against these legislative mills that grind neither slowly nor exceedingly small. Most of us realize we are being smothered in an avalanche of laws and ground up in our own legal and legislative mills.

There always has been a law-making mania in this country, and it has grown with the years. This has resulted in a careless acceptance by all kinds and conditions of men of a feeling that some laws are made to be kept and others broken. It results in men habitually and well-nigh unconsciously breaking many laws and yet continuing to regard themselves as good citizens.

It is, as Secretary Hughes points out, an indictment of our ability to govern ourselves. We have proceeded on the theory that law is the sovereign panacea. We are in the slow process of discovering that a law unenforced is a dangerous thing and that we can have so many that they defeat their own purposes.

TOO MUCH NORTH POLE

In pigeonholing the plans for the Polar trip of the airship Shenandoah, the Navy Department officials apparently have no expectation of any action by the Congress looking to the authorization of the North Pole adventure. This decision will meet with general approval except among a limited number of enthusiasts who believe that the quest is worth all the risks and that the circumnavigation of the Polar region will yield scientific results of value. The Shenandoah, however, is not by reason of this decision to be permitted to be idle. It is to engage in scout-fleet maneuvers, and as a preliminary to this a collier is to be fitted with a mooring mast and will serve as an airship tender. There will be problems enough in this work to make the tasks of the Shenandoah's officers and crew extremely interesting.

INDISCREET PROFESSOR

A New England college president who said he would be glad to have Trotsky or Lenin in his faculty will probably be led to rue his utterance by the storm of censure it will evoke. He meant—and said—that he would welcome any personal force that would rouse the undergraduate mind. But sober reflection must show him the unwisdom of importing into the classroom all the rabid doctrinaires who would be glad to harangue young America and spread their propaganda. Teachers of the young should be chosen for better reasons than their power to incite and excite. Sober reason may present the truth in terms far removed from melodrama, and college lectures should not be turned into motion picture plays of sensation and thrills.

THE WEATHER

The weather is a thing which we Could never do without.
It's something all society
Can safely talk about.

It has no friend to answer back
Or even wear a scowl,
No one your judgment will attack
If you should call it foul.

If of the weather you should tell
The very worst you know,
And prove your dreadful tale as well
No farther would it go.

No eager gossip, hearing you,
Would hasten to repeat
The scandal you had started to
The neighbors down the street.

No little woman's face would pale

No wounded man reply
That you had crushed him with your tale
Or stabbed him with a lie.

So when to gossip you're inclined,
When something you'd abuse,
The weather, not your fellow kind,
Is always safe to use.

Mrs. E. H. D.: "Some time ago one of your readers asked for a recipe for Red Pepper Jam. Here is mine: Remove seeds from 12 large red sweet peppers and put the peppers through your food chopper. Sprinkle with one tablespoon of salt and let stand three or four hours, then drain, put in a pot, and add three cups of sugar and one pint of vinegar. Boil gently till the consistency of jam—about one hour. Turn into sterilized glasses and, when cold, cover with melted paraffin. This recipe makes six glasses."

E. H.: "Here is a very good recipe: Red Pepper Jam Sandwiches: Remove the crust from a slice of white bread and spread with butter and the red pepper jam; on top of this piece place a slice of crustless graham bread which has also been spread with butter and jam; now add another slice of white bread (on top of the graham). In this way you have three slices put together. Make other sandwiches with two pieces of graham on the outside and a piece of white in the middle. Wrap in a piece of dampened cheese cloth, press the sandwiches under a light weight, and leave in a cool place till serving time. Trim edges, cut the sandwiches into narrow 'fingers' or strips, and arrange on a dolly-covered plate."

"Butter Dumplings: Rub one heaping tablespoon of butter into one cup of flour which has been sifted with a little salt and one-half teaspoon of baking powder. Add only just enough water to form a dough which you can handle. Flour the hands and break

CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY
No Narcotics

Thousands of kidney sufferers have tried remedy after remedy with only temporary benefit. That's mighty discouraging! But one kidney remedy has earned a reputation for lasting results and there's plenty of proof right here in Xenia.

Read the experience of one who used Doan's Pills years ago and now makes her endorsement even stronger.

Mrs. David Pohl, 751 W. Second St., Xenia, says: "I suffered with lame back quite frequently, but the most annoying symptom was the irregularity of my kidneys. I felt languid and it seemed I couldn't get any rest. Doan's Pills from Donges' Drug Store cured me entirely."

OVER FOUR YEARS LATER, Mrs. Pohl said: "I have had no further occasion to use Doan's since they cured me."

New Safe Way

Say Goodbye to dull, yellow, tobacco-stained teeth! For a new harmless treatment—Bleachdent Combination—bleaches away the stains, and makes teeth flashing white—often in just three minutes! Treatment consists of a mild safe liquid, which cures and softens the stains—and a new kind of paste which gently removes the softened stains and, used daily, prevents the formation of new stains. Does not affect enamel as its mild ingredients are especially combined to act only on surface stains—not on the enamel itself. Only a safe mild preparation like Bleachdent Combination should be used on children's teeth which are naturally soft and sensitive, and which are especially subject to stains and decay. Fine for the gums. Get Bleachdent Combination today for few cents at all good dealers, such as: Donges Drug Store; D. D. Jones; Sayre and Hemphill. B-82

..... Gentleness

I have many times come to the conclusion that gentleness is one of the greatest arts and one of the greatest acquisitions of this life.

There is a mistaken notion that gentleness precludes strength. The opposite is true.

All great and strong men and women have been gentle. Jesus used the example of the child to point this truth. He said that unless you became as a little child you could not enter the Kingdom of Heaven.

The strongest character I have ever known was my mother. Yet she was very gentle. Her memory sweetens my heart every time I think of her.

Beautiful love—the greatest thing in the world—is always bathed in gentleness.

A gentleman is a man who is always gentle. He could not be a gentleman otherwise.

Frank Bacon, the actor, was one of the gentlest men I have ever known. You never heard him say an unkind word about anyone. He always studied out some way not to hurt. That is why he was always so deeply and greatly loved. His play "Lightnin'" broke all records of the stage. But it wasn't the play—it was dear old "Lightnin' Bill", the actor himself, that was responsible.

Gentleness isn't very showy, usually works quietly in soft lights.

The whole world knows about the gentleness of Lincoln. It was his greatest quality. He pardoned a boy who became tired and fell asleep when on duty—and explained that somehow he could not bear to have a boy shot! And his gentleness has made him immortal.

If you learn to be gentle and tolerant to everyone you will be surprised how the petty worries and troubles we all seem to be heir to, somehow take their leave.

That's all we do—
examine eyes and fit glasses,
but we do it right.

OFFICER THINKS RICHARDS WILL PLEAD GUILTY

Edgar Leon Richards, 53, former Xenia barber and paper hanger, who is being held to the Federal Grand Jury in Louisville, Ky., on a charge of violation of the Mann white slave act, will probably plead guilty when arraigned, according to Probation Officer J. E. Watts, who returned from Louisville Wednesday night.

Probation Officer Watts went to Louisville armed with a non-support warrant sworn out by Richards' wife, Mrs. Myrtle Richards, last September but federal officers pressed the more serious charge against the Xenian after his arrest there by Louisville police.

Mrs. Berdenia Fuller, wife of Robert Fuller, of this city, is said to have admitted to Louisville police that she eloped to Cincinnati with Richards and that he forced her to go to Louisville at the point of a gun, returned home Tuesday night in company with her husband and father, Harry A. Johnson.

Richards, in his cell in Louisville, Wednesday admitted, according to Probation Officer Watts that he had staged an elopement with Mrs. Fuller, but denied he had used a gun, forcing her to go to Kentucky. The elopement, the second time the couple disappeared, occurred Feb. 12. Richards drove here in an automobile he had purchased in Cincinnati and which was partly covered by a mortgage.

From a Xenia drug store, Richards admitted he telephoned Mrs. Fuller an offer of a position with a shop paying $30 a week. He said he then drove to the home of her parents on the Upper Bellbrook pike, where he picked her up and drove to Cincinnati. Richards and Mrs. Fuller and the latter's three small children, lived in one room in a Louisville rooming house.

Richards told the Xenia officer that he had represented Mrs. Fuller as his daughter, but the landlady at the rooming house said he had told her Mrs. Fuller was his wife, and she had admired the children as his. He had not been employed in Louisville but had expected to start working Tuesday morning, the day he was arrested.

When taken into custody he had only $1.25 in his pocket and owed the landlady $6, but she is holding groceries he left in the room, besides a revolver and clothing. The clothing included stage costumes, which Richards had used in staging amateur theatrical productions. Mrs. Fuller appeared in several of these home talent shows here and is said to have acquired an obsession for stage life that led her to listen to Richards' promises to get her a position as an actress.

When arrested, Richards thought he was being taken into custody for leaving the state with a mortgaged automobile, until he was arraigned before the U. S. Commissioner on the more serious charge. The offense carries with it a minimum penalty of $1 fine and one day in prison and a maximum of $10,000 fine and ten years in Federal prison.

Local officials hold a non-support warrant for Richards but are satisfied in having him tried by the federal authorities for the more serious offense.

HOLD COMMUNITY MEETING UNDER BUREAU AUSPICES

One of the largest community meetings of Beaver Creek Township, was held under the auspices of the Township Farm Bureau, at Alpha Wednesday night, for the annual transaction of business. About 100 people attended the meeting.

Russell Schultz was elected president of the Township Farm Bureau for 1925. A. S. Ankeney, vice-president, and John Munger, secretary.

Reports of the State Farm Bureau convention, were given by William Anderson and W. B. Bryson, secretary and president respectively, of the Greene County Farm Bureau, and John Munger, of Beaver Creek Township.

The main talk of the evening was given by Oscar Pierson of Troy, concerning the three-fold mission of the State Farm Bureau Federation, that of purchasing, producing and marketing. Other talks were given by Horace Ankeney, Miss Helen Ankeney, and Russell Schultz. A committee was appointed by the president, to function as an entertainment body, to arrange for programs for future meetings. The committee is composed of Miss Helen Ankeney, Mrs. E. N. Shoup, and Mrs. Ernest Bradford.

ELECT OFFICERS

The election of officers for 1925, marked the closing session of the Spring Valley Farmers' Institute, at Spring Valley, Wednesday. The Rev. Mr. Hogan was elected president, and the Rev. E. C. Wally, vice president. Mrs. Helen Sheehan was elected woman correspondent, and Wendell Morgan, recording secretary. The executive committee is composed of Edward Evans, Lyle Bolinger, John Soward, Miss Alice Walton and Mrs. Bertha Hartsock.

Clyde Northup of the Northup Hatcheries, Yellow Springs, gave a talk on poultry raising at Wednesday's session. R. O. Wead, Greene County Auditor explained how taxes are raised, and how spent in Greene County. Frank Wardlow, president of the Miami Valley Co-operative Milk Producers' Association, gave a talk concerning that organization. Oscar Pierson, of Troy, described the workings of the State Farm Bureau Federation.

NAMED PRESIDENT

F. B. Neff, was elected president of the Bath Township Farm Bureau for the coming year, at the annual meeting held at the Township High School Tuesday evening. J. W. Barr was elected vice-president and N. J. Kurler, secretary.

The annual meeting of the Silver Creek Township Farm Bureau will be held at Jamestown, Thursday night.

9 Thrift Commandments of Young Millionaire.

Walter Head, Jr.

Walter Head, Omaha, Nebraska's youngest man, who became a millionaire at 42, is president of the American Bankers' Association and of the Omaha National Bank, Nebraska's largest banking institution. He is vice-president of the International Boy Scout Movement and of the Father and Son Movement, although he has no son. Here are the ten commandments which he declares will lead to prosperity: Make a budget. Keep an intelligent record of all expenditures. Have a bank account. Carry life insurance. Make a will. Own your own home. Pay your bills promptly. Invest in Government securities. Spend less than you earn. Share with others. "Thrift without benevolence is a doubtful blessing," he added.

ADDRESSES OHIO SOCIETY MEETING

R. Hayes Hamilton, lecturer, of this city, delivered his illustrated lecture on Yellowstone Park and the Pacific Northwest, at the meeting of the Ohio Society of California, held in Pasadena, recently.

The Pasadena Star-News February 22, said it was almost necessary to issue "Standing Room Only" signs, so large was the crowd. Mr. Hamilton was made an honorary member of the Ohio Society at the meeting and was given an enthusiastic reception.

The Star-News said: "Those present who had traveled in that part of the country declared that the pictures were so very natural that they felt they were actually back in the spots previously visited by them while Mr. Hamilton's charming manner of address made those who did not know the country described by him feel as though they had been there, before the evening was over."

BOY, 9, SHOOT HIMSELF WHILE ASLEEP AT HOME

Marion, O., Feb. 28.—Otis E. Palmer, 9, is dead at the home of his parents here as a result of shooting himself in his sleep, according to the expressed belief of the father, James W. Palmer, telephone line-man.

The boy was found dead between 10 and 11 o'clock last night after the parents had been aroused by a shot. The boy was lying on his back, heart and was lying on his back. Another child, two and one half years of age, sleeping with him, was not awakened by the shot.

In order to procure the revolver, if the boy was asleep, he had to go into an adjoining room where his father kept the revolver and then walk back to his bed again. Both the father and mother say they never knew the boy ever walked in his sleep and they cannot believe he committed suicide.

Coroner Burnside found today that his death was accidental but a mystery.

SHOE DEALERS TO MEET IN DAYTON

C. S. Frazer and A. Moser, Xenia shoe dealers, are members of the Ohio Valley Retail Shoe Dealers' Association that will hold its convention at the Hotel Gibbons, Dayton, March 10, 11 and 12.

Seaton Alexander, president of the National Retail Shoe Dealers' Association will attend the convention, as he is vice president of the Ohio Valley Association and a resident of Wheeling, W. Va.

More than 100 exhibitors have arranged for display space in the convention headquarters and plans have been completed for housing 1,200 retail shoe dealers from Ohio West Virginia, Indiana, Michigan, Kentucky and Tennessee in Dayton during the meeting.

Women at the convention will be entertained by a committee headed by Mrs. Michael Haas, Dayton. The entertainment for the visitors will include theater parties, inspection trips to the N. C. R., auto trips to McCook Field. Rike-Kumler will entertain the delegates at luncheon and there will be dinner at the Dayton Women's Club. Elder and Johnson will entertain the women for luncheon on the last day of the meeting.

Men will attend interesting business sessions during the conclave.

BANKER ALLEGES FRAMEUP VICTIM

New York, Feb. 28.—"I was the victim of a frameup—a plot of the underworld of Memphis—to wring $20,000 from me," Beverly D. Harris, former vice president of the National City Bank of New York, testified today at the trial in which he seeks annulment of his marriage to the attractive and dashing Eleanor Elaine Lee Harris.

XENIA GARDEN CLUB LAYING PLANS FOR SPRING ACTIVITIES

The executive committee of the Xenia Garden Club met Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Charles Kelble on West Church Street and elected officers for the coming season and made plans for the beautifying of the city during the spring and summer.

Mrs. Charles Kelble was re-elected as president, Dr. A. C. Messenger as vice president, Miss Kate Schweibold as secretary and Dr. Austin M. Patterson as treasurer. Mr. John Daly and Mr. Harper Kepler were appointed as chairmen of the committees.

The club is planning to launch the spring campaign with a banquet and illustrated lecture on landscape gardening the time and place to be announced later. Zinnia seed and shrubbery will be sold by the club and it is expected that the work of beautifying the city will be entered into with much greater enthusiasm than last spring.

Although the work was entirely new last season the results proved its value to the city. The club is making extensive plans for beautifying the approaches to the city some of which are now marred by unsightly dumps and neglected plots.

THREE ARE DEAD AND ONE INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Kenton, O., Feb. 28.—Miss Altha Strickland, 15, Miss Lena Mae Schuster, 15, and Howard Strickland, 12, were killed and Lloyd Strickland, 17, driver of the machine, was seriously injured early today when an east-bound Big Four passenger train struck the automobile in which they were riding at a grade crossing in Ridgeway, south of here. The young people were returning to their homes from a school play at Ridgeway when the accident occurred.

Howard Strickland lived only long enough to ask for a drink of water.

The bodies of the dead were mangled. They were removed to the Evans mortuary at Ridgeway.

SEVEN ARRESTED IN DAYTON STILL CASE

Cincinnati, Mo., Feb. 28.—Seven men taken into custody in Newport, Ky. today and believed to know the whereabouts of a huge still from which cellar and backroom barrooms in Dayton, Ohio, and Cincinnati have been supplied with moonshine, will be taken to Dayton for trial. Their arrests followed investigations made by Federal Agents N. S. Clark of Columbus, O., and William Quinn of Cincinnati.

The agents were acting under direction of C. L. Kleinhaus, prohibition chief in Cincinnati and James Wood of northern Kentucky. Agents allege they trapped the prisoners by means of marked money. The big still is believed to be located in the hills of northern Kentucky.

NARRATOR TAKES AUDIENCE ON TRIP

Everyone enjoys a good story. But we must remember that half the charm of a good story is due to the ability of the narrative. Seumas McManus is coming to Xenia with stories such as only the Irish people could produce. But better still, he tells these stories as only an Irishman can tell them.

Mr. McManus takes his audience back to old Ireland. There, in fancy, they labor from morn till night with the peasants, or frolic in the moonlight with the fairies. At the sound of his voice his audience hears the ring of horse's hoofs as a belated traveler tries to escape a mischievous sprite.

If one cares to get away from everyday life and spend a few hours in the realm of the imagination, Mr. McManus is an ideal guide.

CONTINUE SERVICES AT LOCAL CHURCH

The Rev. Bona Fleming evangelist at the Church of the Nazarene, took for his text, Wednesday night, Psalm 9:17, "The Wicked Shall Be Turned Into Hell and All Nations that Forget God."

"There are people today who do not believe the word of God, and the sad thing is some of the unbelievers are trying to pass as preachers of the gospel. Christians know the book is true because they are acquainted with its author. We would get more from God if we would believe for more. Let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall. There is none so good but what there is room for improvement."

Rev. Fleming will preach on "The Signs of the Times," Saturday night.

RICE FILES WITH SECRETARY BROWN

Columbus, Ohio, Feb. 28.—James A. Rice, former mayor of Canton, today filed with Secretary of State Brown his declaration of candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination. It is understood that Rice's name will be used as second choice by Ohio supporters of McAdoo for the presidential nomination at the Democratic national convention in New York City next June.

Rice authorized any person to use his name in connection with their candidacy for delegate to the Democratic convention.

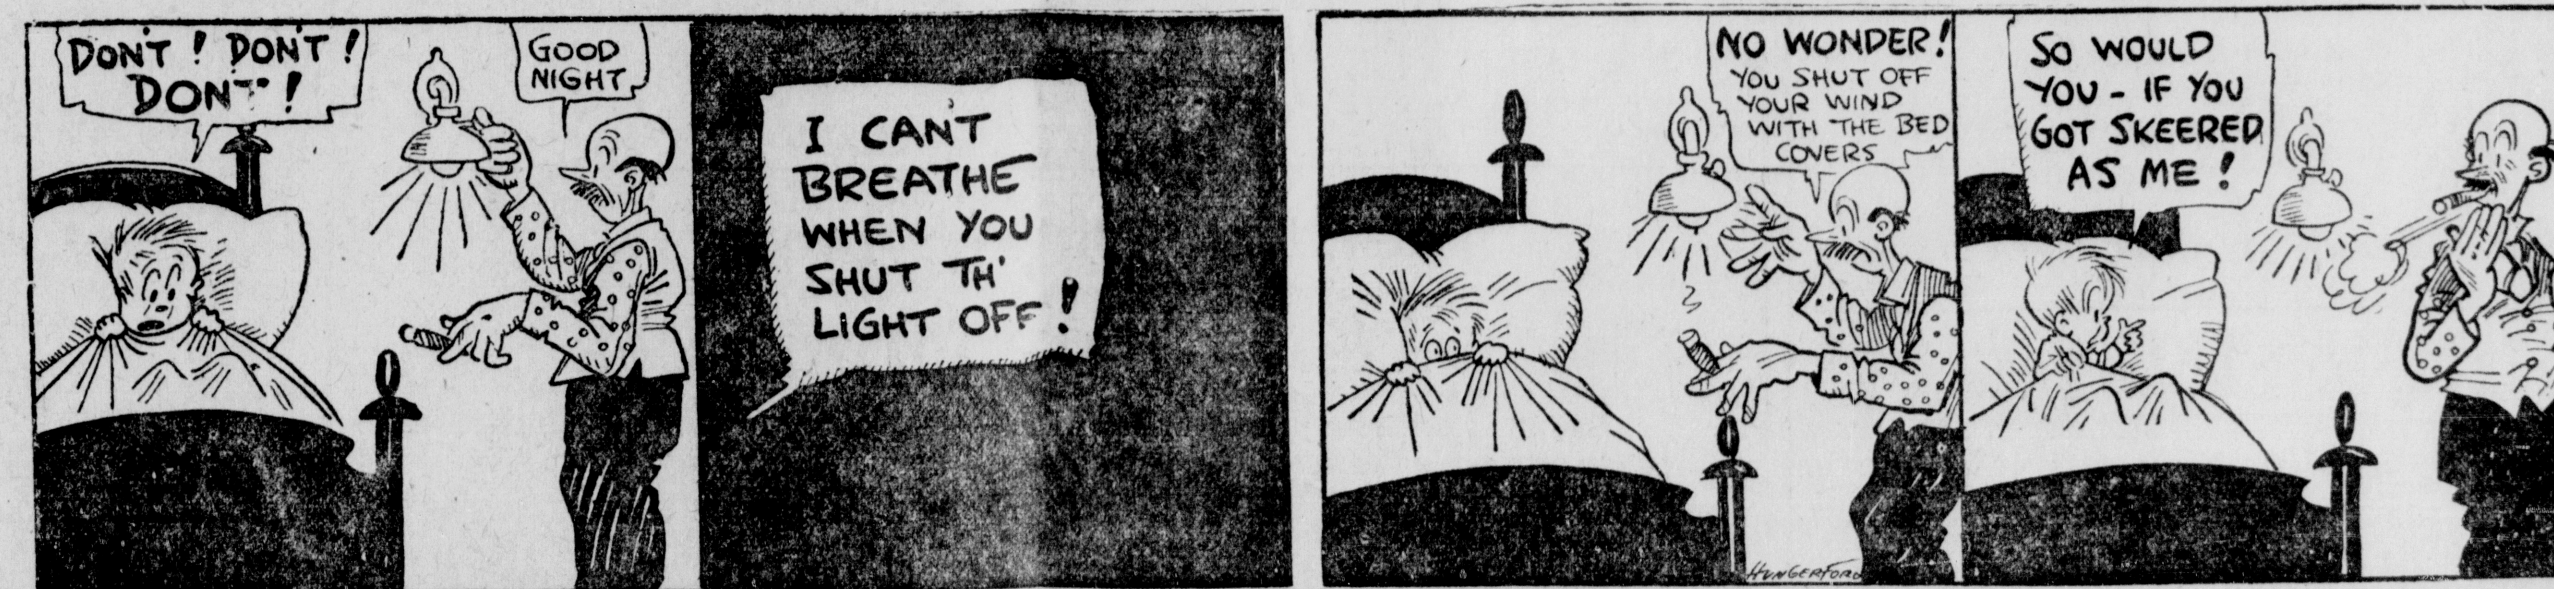

U. S. Senator Frank B. Willis today filed with the secretary of state his declaration of candidacy for delegate at large to the Republican national convention. His candidacy was endorsed by Congressman William M. Morgan, Newark; B. Frank Murphy, Steubenville; I. M. Foster, Athens; Nicholas Longworth, Cincinnati, and John C. Speaks, Columbus, and by Gus J. Karger, Washington, D. C., correspondent for the Cincinnati Times Star.

DAUGHERTY NOW IN CHICAGO. SENATE SEEKS A TRIAL

Washington, Feb. 28.—Before his departure from Washington Attorney General Daugherty issued the following statement:

"I have been called to Florida on a personal matter, but I am compelled first to go to Chicago to attend to important government business which demands my personal attention. I will return from Florida as soon as I can. In the meantime, proper attention will be given to all government matters. The department of justice is functioning 100 per cent. Though temporarily absent, I shall, nevertheless, be in constant touch with the department. Several important cases and other pressing matters which require my personal attention will be taken along with me in order to facilitate action thereon."

"It is not my purpose to even consider tendering my resignation as attorney general until after a fair hearing on charges preferred against me."

Secrecy was maintained at the white house and among Daugherty's advisers regarding the series of white house conferences. First Paul Howland of Cleveland, Daugherty's personal counsel, saw President Coolidge. Then Daugherty, Secretary of War Weeks and Postmaster General New talked for more than an hour with Coolidge. Howland went back to the white house and later Daugherty was in consultation with the president for nearly two hours. Senator Curtis, Republican whip of the senate, also was called on by Coolidge. Curtis explained the parliamentary situation regarding the Wheeler resolution, which has been reported from committee and is ready for action.

Mr. Daugherty made to President Coolidge the declaration he would not resign until after a fair hearing or charges preferred against him. The president had laid before him in a conference of more than an hour the conclusions reached by the administration after a re-examination of the whole case. The white house refrained from any public statement, but it was evident that until Daugherty had announced definitely his refusal to retire under fire the belief in some administration quarters was that his resignation was imminent.

FARM PROGRESS

PUBLIC FORMULAS

SOUGHT BY BOARD

Because livestock farmers in the eastern part of the United States have asked for an open formula feed service, 17 agricultural college specialists, including two from the Ohio State University, have organized the College Feed Conference Board.

Five standard dairy feeds, a calf meal and a mineral meal for dairy cattle have been formulated by this board and will be made available to stockmen through farm papers and agricultural college publications.

In approving the principle of a public formula for all ready-mixed feeds the College Feed Conference Board explains that the public formula makes known to farmers the composition and total digestibility of feeds. The board recommends that stockmen buy feeds on the basis of digestible protein and digestible nutrients rather than on basis of total nutrients. This way buyers of dairy feeds can know for sure just how much of a feed has nutritive value.

In making up the dairy feeds the college specialists decided that each dairy feed formula should contain 1 per cent of steam bone meal, 1 per cent calcium carbonate that will pass through a 20-mesh sieve, and 1 per cent salt.

DEMONSTRATION OF TELEPHONE EXCHANGE GIVEN AT SCHOOL

Do you rattle the telephone hook swiftly when you think the operator does not answer soon enough to suit you? Don't blush. Lots of people do the same thing. At least so say five pretty telephone operators from the Dayton exchange, who gave a demonstration of the common telephone errors humanity falls heir to, for the benefit of pupils of Central High School Thursday morning.

Misses Mary Buiger, Leora Fricke, Verona Fisher, Noretta Manchester and Annabelle Haynes, using a sketchy, demonstration switch board on the stage of the school auditorium, ran through the gamut of mistakes that are commonly made by patrons and explained many of the odd situations that arise daily in telephone conversations.

One of the girls acted as the telephone operator, while others, seated at desk telephones, represented subscribers. The demonstration showed that slowly moving the receiver hook up and down, causes the light on the switch board to go on and off, attracting the attention of the operator. Swift movement of the hook causes the light to remain on, as it should be, and the operator is not aware of the exasperated subscriber at the other end of the wire.

They also told frankly about the subscriber who puts in a call, and then hangs up before the party called answers the ring, thus drawing down maledictions upon the head of the innocent operator. Equally clearly they demonstrated the common trait of mankind to blame the "hello girl" when the wrong number is given through failure to look up the proper number in the book; for failure to answer the telephone for some particular reason and then declaring the girl did not ring; for telephone conversations being cut off and delayed through the party called failing to hang up quickly.

That's one for the book, that one about hanging up quickly. According to Miss Buiger and her telephone playmates, the subscriber who is called, should immediately hang up if the line is cut off. That will give the party calling opportunity to call again, while if the party called does not hang up, it is impossible for the operator to re-connect the line.

The girls also explained the operations of an exchange board, the manipulations of the cords, how the signals come in and calls are placed and other interesting facts concerning the handling of thousands of telephone calls daily, each in record time. The demonstration supplied mented the showing of two motion picture reels, depicting the growth and progress of the telephone and its operation.

The first reel showed the inventor, Alexander Graham Bell, and early pictures of the initial telephone and the first exchanges. In sequence it carried the telephone development through to the present instrument and also showed the elimination of wires through the use of underground cables and other improvements. The other reel showed pictures of telephone activities in Dayton.

Both reels were explained by H. E. Allen, Dayton district commercial superintendent. T. M. Steinhart, Dayton, district traffic superintendent, had charge of the "Smile Exchange" demonstration and the entire program was given through arrangements made by H. W. Cleaver, Xenia commercial manager. William Fryman, Springfield commercial manager and William Koogler, Springfield district plant chief, were also present at the demonstration.

WOMAN SEEKING STATE OFFICE

Miss Mary B. Ervin, world and national secretary of the Loyal Temperance Legion, of the W. C. T. U. recently announced her candidacy on the Republican ticket for the office of Greene County representative in the legislature.

She has held the national temperance office for the past ten years, and served as world secretary for three years. She has played an active part in temperance reform work in the county and section of the state.

Child-birth

WHEN the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says: "With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used 'Mother's Friend' and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes. Use 'Mother's Friend' as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., B.A. 75, Alden, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. 'Mother's Friend' is sold by all drug stores—everywhere."

WOMAN AILING FOR A YEAR Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—Happy Results

Newcastle, Pa.—"I was all run-down and everybody thought I was going into a decline. I had been ailing for a year with pains in my right side so that I could hardly stand on my feet. When I walked I felt as if something was falling. I was not able to do any work and had a nurse most of the time. She spoke to me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. So I gave it a fair trial. Some women think one bottle should cure them, but I did not stop at that. I took more and got better, and am able ever since to do my own housework. There was a time, when I would complain of not feeling well, that my husband would say, 'Go to the doctor.' But now he will tell me to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's, and it has always helped me. I have had druggists tell me that they had something better, but they don't tell me that now, for I take no other. I have been taking the Vegetable Compound now for five years. Any woman who cares to call or write, I will be glad to tell her how it helped me."—Mrs. MABEL LIST SHERBORN, 515 Newell Ave., Newcastle, Pa. For sale by druggists everywhere.

We Ask This Simple Test

It is an easy way to tell if the new Essex Coach gives greater value than was ever provided at this price.

Take a ride. It has answered the question for thousands. Priced $170 lower, the new Essex Coach provides a larger, handsomer body, with even greater passenger comfort than the former Coach.

And its 6-cylinder motor, built by Hudson, gives the smoothness of performance for which the Super-Six is famous.

Has Qualities of Both Hudson and the Former Essex

Steering is as easy as guiding a bicycle. Note how comfortably and safely it holds even the roughest roads at all speeds.

Gasoline, oil and tire mileage are exceptional. A further satisfaction is the low cost at which all replacement parts are sold.

OLD INHABITANTS SUBJECT OF TALK TO KIWANIS CLUB

The bones of the "oldest inhabitants" to be found in this section, date back to the time of King Tut, was the assertion of Dr. W. A. Galloway, in an interesting talk on "Our Ancient Ancestors" before members of the Xenia Kiwanis Club, Wednesday evening at the Elks' Lodge.

There are two waves of civilization in this section, according to Dr. Galloway, the mound-builders and their descendants, and the American Indian. There is no geological drift in the inhabited parts of America to assist in the story of determining the age of man, as in Europe, he said. Man progressed because of the discovery of tempering bronze, combining tin and copper, and manufacturing edged cutting tools. Tools have marked the onward steps upon which civilization has depended, he declared.

Dr. Galloway pointed out that nine miles from Xenia, may be found twenty-seven mounds of various types, and their contents tell the story of a race, that came into being, grew strong and passed away in the same vicinity. He interestingly told of the Indians that inhabited this section, especially the Shawnee tribe.

The address was well received by a large number of club members that attended the meeting. The club has been divided into two sections, captained by Charles Kelble, and James Paulin, in an attendance contest.

Next week, the club will go to Antioch College, Yellow Springs, to have dinner with the students, and join in a singing "fest" with the student body, and later be guests at a basket ball game.

BRINGING UP FATHER

The Evil Shepherd

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

"You haven't any theory, I suppose?" Wilmore asked, a little wistfully.

Francis shook his head. "Not the ghost of one," he admitted. "The reason I am advising you to keep as quiet as possible, though, is just this. If you create a lot of interest in a disappearance, you have to satisfy the public curiosity when the mystery is solved."

"I see," Wilmore murmured. "All the same, I can't imagine Reggie getting mixed up in anything discreditable."

"Neither can I, from what I remember of the boy," Francis agreed. "Let me see, what was he doing in the city?"

"He was with Jameson & Scott, stock brokers," Wilmore replied. "He was only learning the business and he had no responsibilities. Curiously enough, though, when I went to see Mr. Jameson he pointed out one or two little matters that Reggie had attended to, which looked as though he were clearing up, somehow or other."

"He left no message there, I suppose?"

"Not a line or a word. He gave the porter five shillings, though, on the afternoon before he disappeared—a man who has done some odd jobs for him."

"Well, a voluntary disappearance is better than an involuntary one," Francis remarked. "What was his usual program when he left the office?"

"He either went to Queen's and played racquets, or he went straight to his gymnasium in the Holborn. I telephoned to Queen's. He didn't call there on the Wednesday night, anyhow."

"Where's the gymnasium?"

"At 147-A Holborn. A lot of city young men go there late in the evening, but Reggie got off earlier than most of them and used to have the place pretty much to himself. I think that's why he stuck to it."

Francis made a note of the address. "I'll get Shopland to step down there some time," he said. "Or better still, finish your lunch and we'll take a taxi there ourselves. I'm going to the country later on, but I've half-an-hour to spare. We can go without our coffee and be there in ten minutes."

"A great idea," Wilmore acquiesced. "It's probably the last place Reggie visited, anyway."

However, inquiries at the gymnasium were fruitless, the manager becoming surly as soon as he learned the reason of their visit, and showing them the door in an abrupt manner.

At six o'clock that evening Francis turned his two-seater into a winding drive bordered with rhododendrons, and pulled up before the porch of a charming two-story bungalow, covered with creepers, and with French windows opening from every room on to the lawn. A man-servant who had heard the approach of the car was already standing in the porch. Sir Timothy, in white flannels and a Panama hat, strolled across the lawn to greet his approaching guest.

"Excellent time, my young friend," he said. "You will have time for your first cocktail before you change. My daughter you know, of course. Lady Cynthia Milton I think you also know."

Francis shook hands with the two girls who were lying under the cedar tree. Margaret Hilditch seemed to him more wonderful than ever in her white serge boating clothes. Lady Cynthia, who had apparently just arrived from some function in town, was still wearing muslin and a large hat.

"I am always afraid that Mr. Led-sam will have forgotten me," she observed, as she gave him her hand. "The last time I met you was at the Old Bailey, when you had been cheating the galleys of a very respectable wife murderer. Poyning, I think his name was."

"I remember it perfectly," Francis assented. "We danced together that night. I remember, at your aunt's, Mrs. Malcolm's, and you were intensely curious to know how Poyning had spent his evening."

"Lady Cynthia's reminder is perhaps a little unfortunate," Sir Timothy observed. "Mr. Ledsam is no longer the last hope of the enterprising criminal. He has turned over a new leaf. To secure the services of his silver tongue, you have to lay at his feet no longer the bags of gold from your ill-gotten gains but the white flower of the blameless life."

"This is all in the worst possible taste," Margaret Hilditch declared, in her cold, expressionless tone. "You might consider my feelings."

Lady Cynthia only laughed. "My dear Margaret," she said, "if I thought that you had any, I should never believe that you were your father's daughter. Here's to them, anyway," she added, accepting the cocktail from the tray which the butler had just brought out. "Mr. Ledsam, are you going to attach yourself to me, or has Margaret annexed you?"

"I have offered myself to Mrs. Hilditch," Francis rejoined promptly, "but so far I have made no impression."

"Try her with a punt and a concertina after dinner," Lady Cynthia suggested. "After all, I came down here to better my acquaintance with my host. You flirted with me disgracefully when I was a debutante, and have never taken any notice of me since. I hate infidelity in a man. Sir Timothy, I shall devote myself to you. Can you play a concertina?"

"Where the higher forms of music are concerned," he replied, "I have no opinion."

Are We Extravagant?

Here are some costs on Studebaker cars—
Would you have us cut them down?

WE are lavish on Studebaker cars. For some features we pay three and four times what they need cost.

Here are some of those costs which affect you. Tell us—would you want any one reduced?

Our prices on high-grade Sixes run from $1025 to $2685. They stand at bottom in the fine-car field, despite these extra costs. All because the demand requires 150,000 cars per year.

But they could be lower if we cut these costs. Would you have us do it?

Engineering—$500,000

Our engineering departments cost us $500,000 yearly.

Our Department of Research and Experiment employs 125 skilled men. It spends vast sums in analyses and tests.

Our Bureau of Methods and Standards fixes every formula, every requirement. It makes 500,000 tests per year to maintain our high standards.

We make 30,000 inspections on every Studebaker car during manufacture before it goes out of the factory. We employ 1,200 men to do that.

Those are heavy costs. But remember how they are divided—by 150,000 cars per year. They form but a trifle per car.

$50,000,000 in plants

We have invested $50,000,000 in modern plants and equipment. $8,000,000 in drop forge plants. $10,000,000 in body plants—as the only way to do Studebaker coach work.

These plants are equipped with 12,500 up-to-date machines, many of them very expensive.

But consider the alternative. Profits to other makers. We save up to $300 for you by building Studebaker bodies in our own body-plants.

15% extra on steel

On some steels we pay a bonus of 15% to the maker. Just to get our

Our bodies are finished with 18 operations, including 15 coats of paint and varnish.

We use real leather upholstery. We could cut the price of our open models $25.00 were we willing to use imitation instead of genuine leather.

We upholster our closed models in the finest Chase Mohair. Cotton or ordinary wool, or a combination of both, would enable us to reduce our price from $100 to $150 per car. But we would thus sacrifice Studebaker quality and reputation.

We spend money lavishly. We build without regard to cost. But, in our quantity production, we still bring costs to bottom.

You should learn what these things mean to you before you buy a car.

The utmost in car value

The object is to give you the utmost in car value. You will find we do that if you make comparisons. In any Studebaker model, you will

Extras to our men

We pay the highest labor scale. Then we add extras to it.

Men who are with us five years or over get 10% of their year's wages in an anniversary check. Those anniversary checks last year cost us $1,300,000.

After two years all employees get a week of vacation with pay. That cost us last year $225,000.

Old employees who retire get pensions.

All this to keep men with us while they grow more and more efficient. To make them happy, so they do their best.

This is all paid by people who buy Studebaker cars. But we figure that each such dollar saves us five dollars. Don't you agree with us?
